

Supply Chain
Graham Company

AI Survey
The Brookings Institution

New Jersey
Manufacturing
New Jersey Manufacturing Extension Program \(NJMEP\)

Oregon Report
American Jobs Project

Ford's Risk Management Lessons

Ford's crisis highlights the damage of a supply chain interruption. Luke Foley shares four strategies to plan for and mitigate this risk.

On May 2, a fire shut down the Meridian Magnesium Products plant in Eaton Rapids, Michigan. It was just one plant, in one location – but it created a global supply chain nightmare for Ford and other top automotive manufacturers.

Read more

AI Survey Finds Worries Over Jobs, Privacy and China

To examine attitudes towards AI, the Brookings Institution undertook an online national survey of 1,535 adult Internet users in May 2018.

Read more

New Jersey-Based Manufacturers Reveal Top Issues

Minimum wages, taxes, competition, and education threaten the Garden State's manufacturing community.

Read more

Next-Generation Manufacturing Means Oregon Jobs

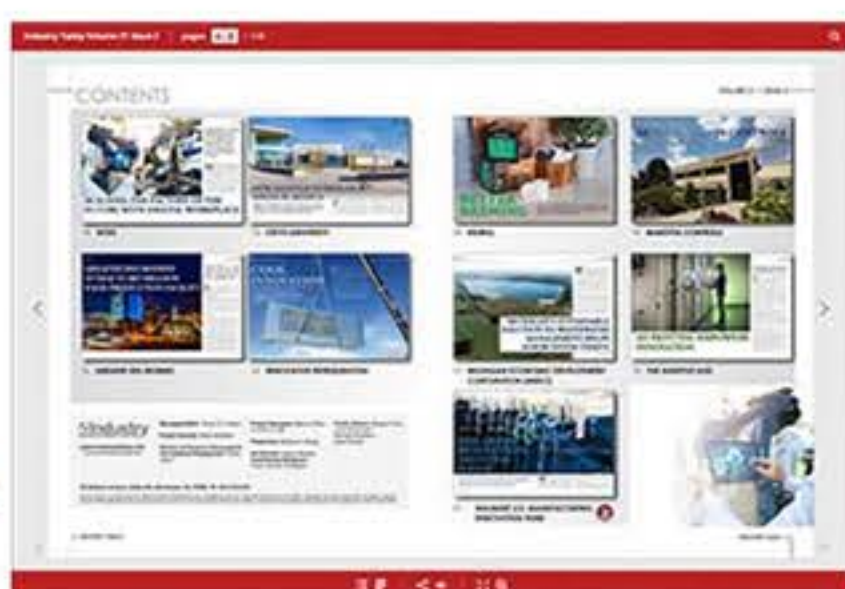

Oregon can capitalize on its strengths in the next-generation manufacturing industry to drive economic growth and support over 65,000 jobs.

Read more

Looking to Tomorrow
Industry Focus June 2018 - 3D Manufacturing, Air Cargo, Automation
Check out the Editorial Calendar and Submit your content here

Current Issue - Click to Read Online

News

2018 New Jersey Manufacturing Awards Nominations Are Now Open

Nominations are now open for the 2018 New Jersey Manufacturing Awards. Categories include Manufacturer of the Year (Small, Medium, Large and Young/Start Up), Innovator of the Year, the Raymond Hopp Award for Excellence and the Made in NJ Honor Roll. Winners will be announced in celebration of Manufacturing Day on Friday, October 5th, 2018.

Make Your Nomination here

Going Plastic-Free in Food Packaging

Following the opening of the world's first plastic-free food aisle, ABB explores the alternatives to plastic food packaging.

Read more

