

Innovation, Infrastructure, and the Future of Manufacturing

The newest digital issue of Industry Today has arrived and it's packed with the people, projects, and ideas shaping the future of manufacturing, technology, and global industry.

In this issue, we explore how innovation, workforce development, and strategic investment are driving progress across sectors, from advanced manufacturing floors to global trade infrastructure.

Inside This Issue

Hyundai Leads the Future of Mobility

At the Hyundai Metaplant (HMGMA), artificial intelligence is more than a buzzword – it's fueling real-world innovation creating smarter operations and a stronger, more resilient manufacturing ecosystem.

Economic Development That Delivers

Discover why food and beverage manufacturers are flocking to Pennsylvania's Lehigh Valley, and how World Trade Center Chicago is building stable infrastructure for long-term global business growth amid shifting trade dynamics.

Preparing Tomorrow's Workforce, Today

From Discovery Education's classroom connection strategies to Mitsubishi Electric America Foundation's focus on inclusive manufacturing careers, this issue highlights how companies are investing in the next generation of talent.

Reshoring Success Stories

Industry expert Harry Moser shares award-winning examples of U.S. companies reshoring successfully by planning strategically, using total cost of ownership analysis, and investing in American workers and advanced technologies.

Unlocking America's Energy Resources

Myriad Uranium Corp. reveals how modern assays at Wyoming's Copper Mountain are uncovering overlooked uranium reserves, supporting America's push for a secure domestic fuel supply.

Inspiring the Next Generation of Manufacturers

Saint-Gobain North America's Sustaining Futures, Raising Communities initiative shows how early exposure can help students envision meaningful, future-ready careers in manufacturing.

Explore the Full Digital Issue

These stories, and many more, reflect an industry moving with purpose, innovation, and resilience. Whether you're focused on manufacturing, energy, education, or economic development, this issue delivers insight you can use today to prepare for tomorrow.

Read the full digital magazine now

Thank you for being part of the Industry Today community.